

SHARON STAPEL

Falling to Pieces: New York State Civil Legal Remedies Available to Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Survivors of Domestic Violence

---

ABOUT THE AUTHOR: Sharon Stapel is the director of the Family/Domestic Violence Unit of South Brooklyn Legal Services. The author previously worked at the Legal Aid Society as the interim supervising attorney of the Family/Domestic Violence Practice, during which time this article was primarily written. The author is indebted to Lauren J. Donnelly and Robert W. Jones for their thoughtful analysis, David Laibstain and Alaina Brooks, associates at Weil, Gotshal & Manges L.L.P., for their research, Pooja Gehi and Z. Gabriel Arkdes at the Sylvia Rivera Law Project for their expertise, and Amy E. Schwartz at the Empire Justice Center for her many contributions to the article and to this developing field of practice.

---